About ePing

Please note that the ePing website is not touch screen compatible.

Governments establish product requirements to achieve policy objectives such as the protection of human health or the environment. The WTO SPS and TBT Agreements try to ensure that these requirements do not create unnecessary obstacles to international trade. WTO Members are required to notify other Members before adopting new measures if these are likely to affect international trade and provide an opportunity for comments. ePing enables timely access to these notifications and facilitates dialogue amongst the public and private sector in addressing potential trade problems at an early stage.

Register and receive alerts

The screenshot shows the ePing website interface. The browser address bar displays <http://www.epingalert.org/en>. The page header includes the ePing logo, the text "SPS & TBT notification alert system", and logos for the World Trade Organization, International Trade Centre, and United Nations. A navigation bar contains links for "search notifications", "enquiry points", and "help". On the right side of the navigation bar, the "register" link is circled in blue, and the "log in" link is next to it. A red button labeled "EN" with a dropdown arrow is also present. A large blue box with the text "Register to receive alerts and access all functionalities" points to the "register" link. Another blue box with the text "Select your language" points to the "EN" button. The main content area features a world map with a central red circle labeled "WTO". Arrows point from various regions to the "WTO" circle, accompanied by icons representing different product types: a document with a flame (top left), a tractor (top right), a fish (bottom right), a person (bottom left), and a document with wheat (bottom center). A grey box at the bottom left contains the text "Keep track of product requirements in foreign markets".
