4. Focus group work programme

4.1 Discussion paper with points for consideration

- [9] The focus group member from Australia introduced the discussion paper on issues to be considered to finalize the scoping study and subsequent advice to be provided to the CPM. The member outlined the paper’s focus on a stocktake of research networks, key elements of a global research network, the group’s objectives and scope, and issues related to global research coordination. The paper aimed to stimulate discussion, identify gaps and inform the development of a framework and action plan.
- [10] The focus group discussed the paper’s purpose, emphasizing a shared understanding of goals and the inclusion of increased awareness and accessibility of research expertise. The need for explicit points on achieving better outcomes, particularly regarding high-quality science and an implementation plan, was stressed. The group also discussed additional drafting, accelerating development, and whether identifying shared priorities should be a goal or a success.

[11] The focus group proposed live edits on the discussion paper and considered focusing on the first couple of points, including fundamental research, such as taxonomy and diagnostics. The group agreed to add diagnostics and harmonized methodology, and discussed how to address trade sensitivities and commercial interests, potential barriers to research, as well as the challenges of supporting existing research and governance. The group further discussed transitioning the document into an action plan and its presentation to the CPM.

[12] The focus group:

- (1) agreed for focus group members to continue providing feedback and comments to the draft discussion paper within one week, after which time it will be reviewed by the chairperson and vice-chairperson; and
- (2) agreed for the focus group member from Australia to provide concrete examples regarding trade sensitivities and commercial interests.

4.2 Final report to the CPM

[13] The secretariat provided an update on the final report of the focus group due at CPM-20 in 2026.

[14] One focus group member proposed autumn 2025 as the target for final report development and proposed structured focus group meetings with clear deliverables for discussion to achieve this timeline.

[15] The focus group confirmed that a table of contents had already been drafted and agreed to continue adding further elements to the draft report.

[16] The secretariat proposed that the focus group review other CPM reports submitted by focus groups for reference and noted that further templates would be provided by the secretariat.

[17] The focus group:

- (3) agreed to continue providing further input and feedback to the draft CPM final report.

[18] The secretariat:

- (4) agreed to search for CPM report templates and share with the focus group.
